Sybase said its market data analytics platform RAP-The Trading Edition will be combined with SL's business activity monitoring (BAM) platform RTView.

Tom Lubinski, president and chief executive at SL, said: "Capital market firms can immediately benefit from this integrated platform combining low-latency response times and fast access to massive historical data stores with a comprehensive BAM platform that provides instinctive context to the data. Leveraging the sub-second performance and customizability of RTView, and the high-volume, high-velocity data management of RAP, capital market firms can make optimized trading and portfolio decisions with less risk."
